THE WAY WE WERE

Memories,
Like the corners of my mind . . .
Misty water colored memories

THE WAY WE WERE.

Scattered pictures
Of the smiles we left behind,
Smiles we gave to one another,
for

THE WAY WE WERE.

Can it be
That it was all so simple then?

Or has time
Rewritten every line?
If we had the chance
To do it all again . . .
Tell me, would we?

Could we?

Memories,

May be beautiful and yet,

What's too painful to remember
We simply choose to forget.

So it's the laughter

We will remember

Whenever we remember

THE WAY WE WERE.

Someone once said, "a picture is worth a thousand words." In this book with pictures we have tried to relate the many events that occurred during our 1974-75 school year in retrospect of "The Way We Were."

Looking back on our days in the castle this year, we remember the glory of basketball wins, and the horror and disgust of bomb scares. In the fall, Laura Lindemann was crowned Homecoming Queen following weeks of preparation for the football attraction. We worked hard in our classes to receive recognition for ourselves, our teachers, and our parents. Our gym was enlightened with the painting of an "Oscar" high on the wall. In hopes of a decrease in vandalism, a new alarm system was installed here.

We were known as the mighty Knights; we were often categorized as farmers. At ballgames we clutched elbows in spirited friendships. When the band placed 18th in the State Fair contest and when we carried home the ACAC trophy from Fort Wayne, we all took pleasure in saying these were accomplishments for "our" school. And integrated in this maze of collected and unified spirit, we stood alone. The test we signed, the grade card handed to one, or the free shot that decided the outcome, produced the individuality of us all. It is a picture of the way we were.

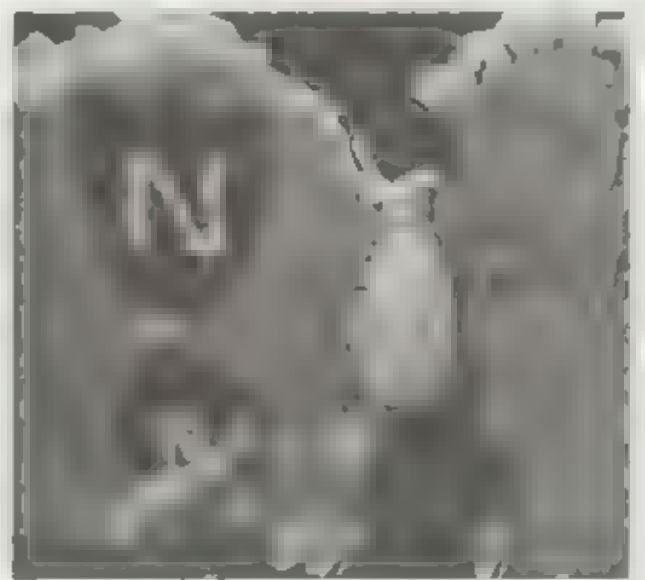

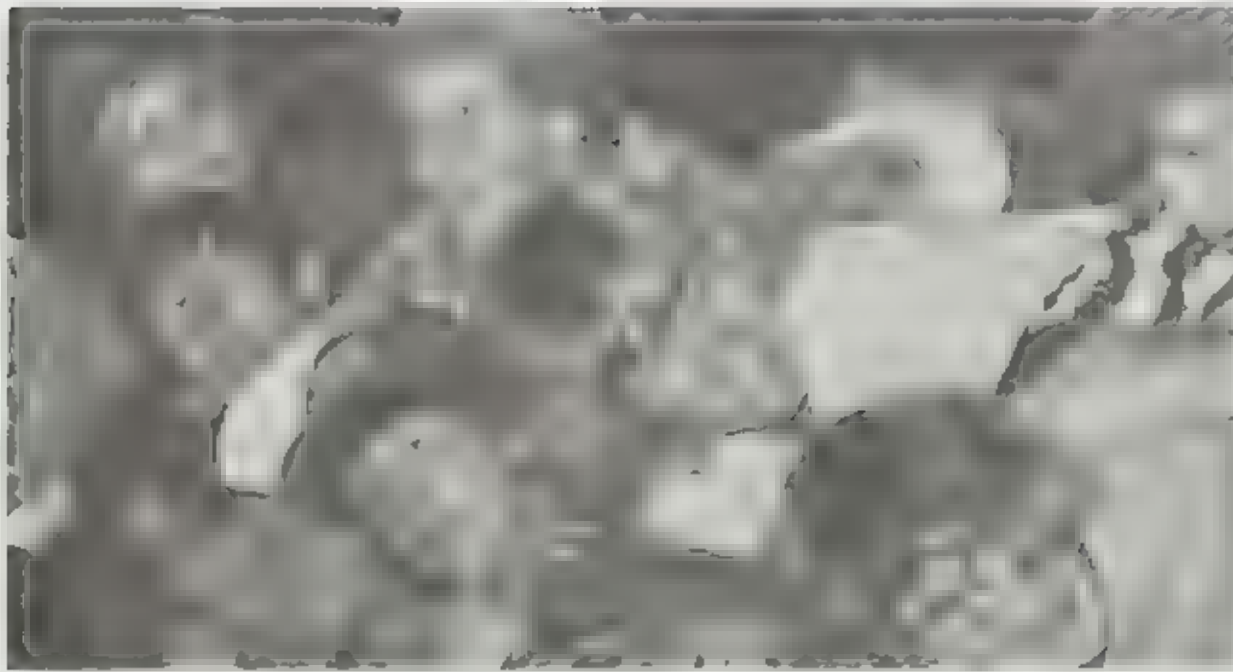

Some call us "Farmers" . . . Some call us "Knights"

Memories, like the corners of my mind

"The Night of the Knights"

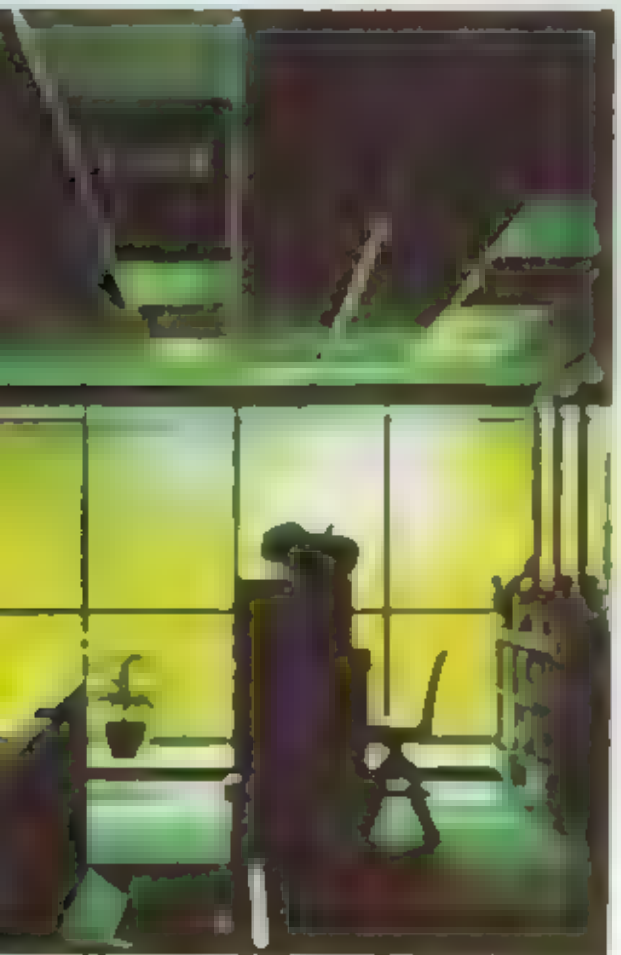

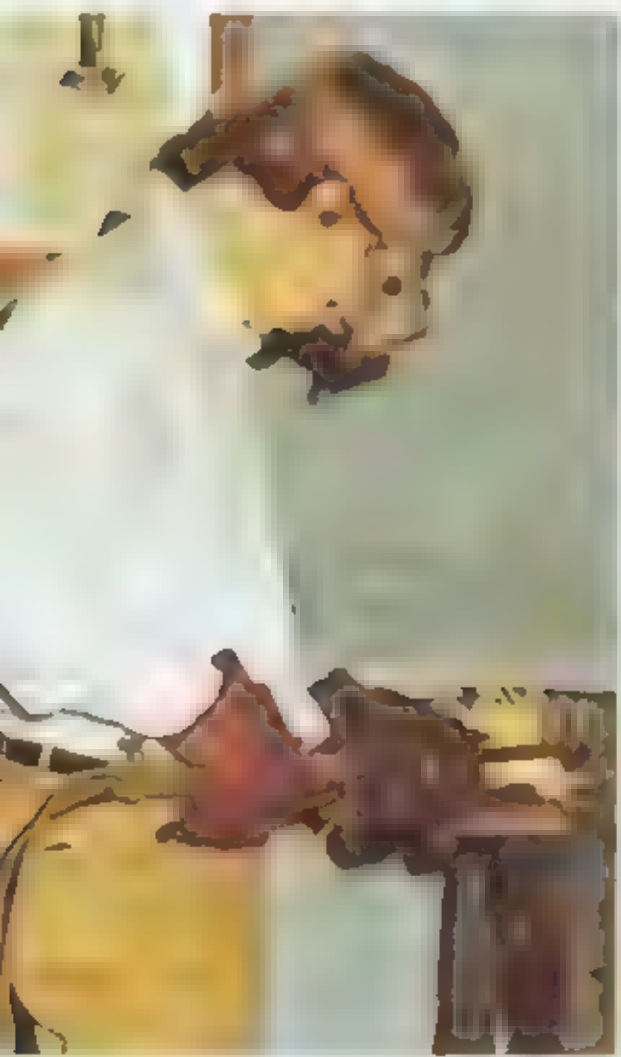

Homecoming always proves to be one of the most favored activities at Norwell. This year, the week of Homecoming became more recognized with the student body enthusiastically taking part in the events of the days and with the scorching bonfire held during the middle of the week. The Night of the Knights, theme of the event, provided a pleasant setting for the game. The crowning of Laura Lindeman as Homecoming Queen and the dance featuring the group "San Dog" were among the main attractions of the night. (Top left) Senior boys collapse with smiles after building a pyramid at the pep session before the bonfire. (Center left) Queen candidates chosen by fellow seniors were, Connie Raber, Cheryl Wood, Laura Lindeman standing Jan Hook and Abby Dormire (seated). (Bottom left) Freshmen, Cathy Nichols, Vicki Mankey, and Teresa Frechter portray animals on their class float. (Top right) The bandana flag, often seen in Norwell Country, made its way to the sophomores' float. (Center right) Laura Lindeman, Homecoming Queen 1974, proudly wears her crown as her escort, Scott Gehring, admires her flowers. (Bottom right) Junior float captures first place with their title, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?"

Eight departments — provide learning experiences

Departments make up the biggest part of the school. They are responsible for the many hours of study, lecture, and time spent to achieve the goals of A's, honor roll, credits, and most of all graduation. In the hours accumulated in eight various departments, students are able to achieve what is known as a "well-rounded" education. Here they mold one of the many steps in their staircase of life.

The Art Department tries to bring out hidden talents in students. A student in art class can express himself through his artistic abilities. The Art Department at Norwell is headed by Mrs. Shady. Mr. Earheart, a senior at St. Francis College, assisted Mrs. Shady a portion of this school year while doing his student teaching here at Norwell. Four art classes are available to the students who are interested in being creative.

Business department has adventurous year

Nineteen seventy-five brought many new adventures to Norwell's Business Department. The breaking-in of 32 new typewriters was a painful experience for some. Mr. Gilbert was gone for some time, due to an operation on his knee. The department also broke-in a new teacher, Mr. Miller, a senior at Huntington College, did his student teaching at the Castle. Sixteen various business courses were offered to the students at Norwell.

The English department works to prepare a student in communication purposes for the future.

This year the department welcomed drama back on its list of many courses after its absence in the English field last year. Students were required to take a total of at least 6 semesters of English throughout their high school term, chosen from 25 various courses offered.

Boys learn to cook

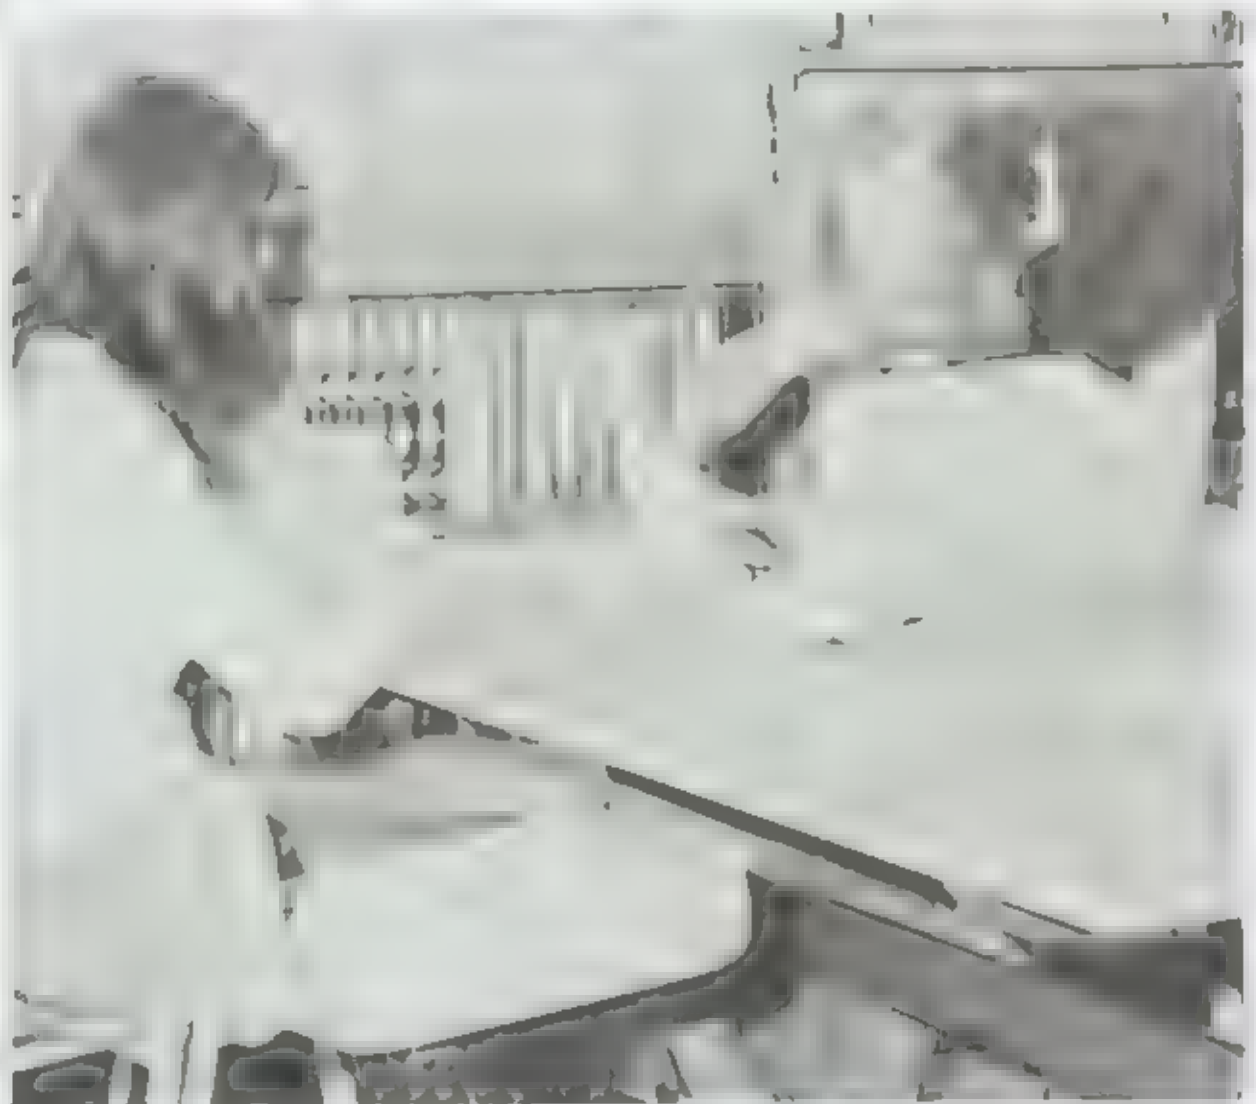

The Home Economics classes busied themselves throughout the school year with sewing, cooking full meals, and learning things that will be needed in home life.

Boys and girls demonstrated their abilities by baking cookies, cakes and making candy in the early part of the year.

The girls developed their skills in sewing and experienced the thrill of turning out more perfected articles of clothing. Many girls learned the importance of first aid and ways of better caring for themselves.

Top right—Donna Cash, Kevin Williams and Tim McIntire seem to enjoy their meal of spaghetti and meatballs. Top left—Dave Wood acts like he may get dishpan hands while cleaning up after his meal. Bottom right—Doug Guerin, Kevin McCartney and John Reed wonder about their utensils while washing the dishes. Bottom left—Ned Byam, Mike Miller, and Scott Brickley enjoy clearing up almost as much as they enjoy eating.

Industrial Arts' students develop skills

Industrial Arts open to both boys and girls, enables students to develop skills in the types of courses that the department offers. Woodworking, electricity, drafting and power and transportation are a few of the specialized classes offered.

Three foreign language classes offered

Language is the connection between other people and ourselves. Men all over the world have their own language and find it difficult to communicate with neighbors of other lands. German, French and Spanish courses are offered to students at N.H.S. in order for them to become better acquainted with the country that interests them most.

It is chiefly through books that we enjoy communication with superior minds, and these invaluable means of intercourse are in the reach of all at Norwell, through the library.

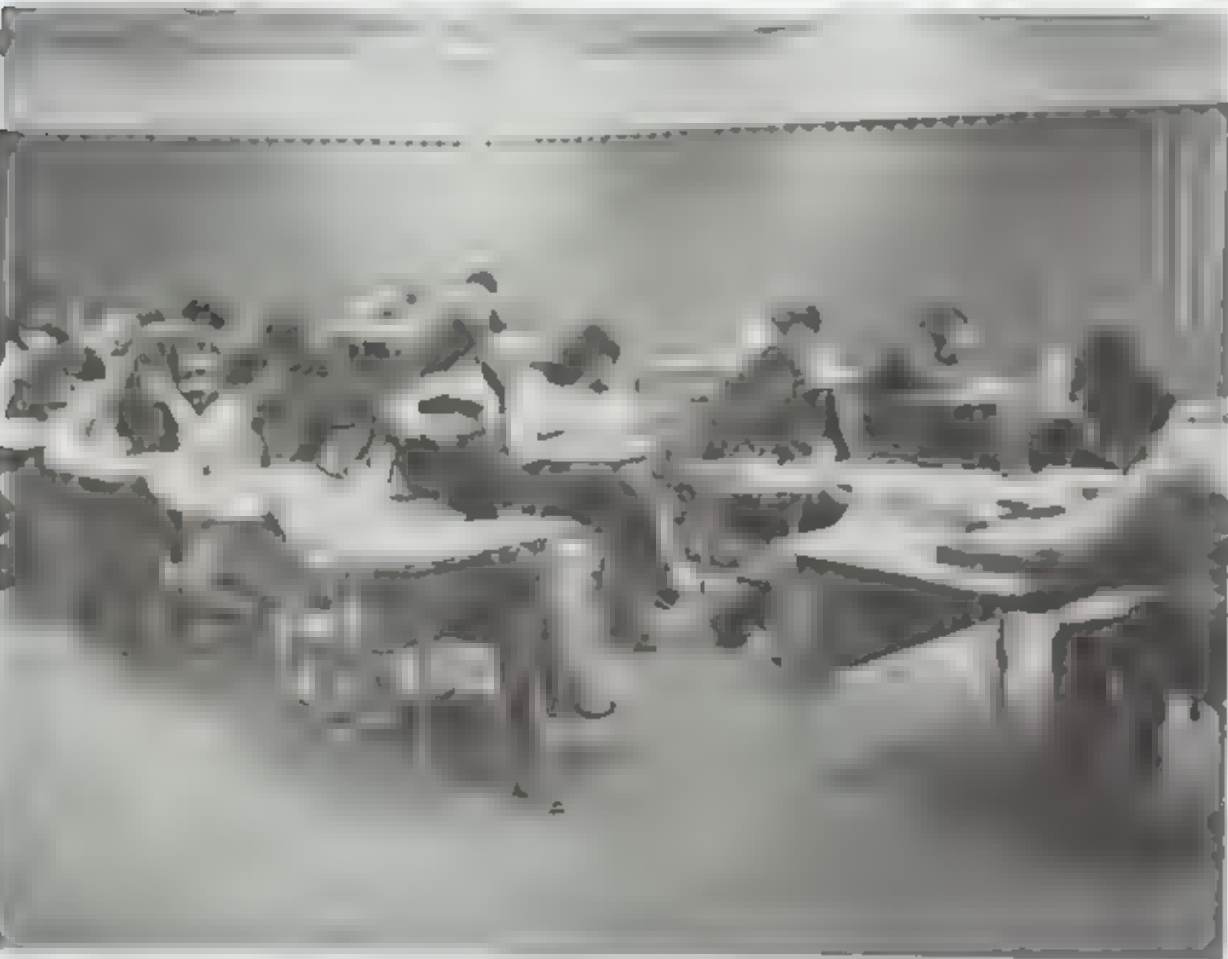

This page: (left), Mrs. Hever Donagh, librarian, tries hard to keep an eye on the library and (far left) the students with the many different sections of the department. (upper right), Mrs. Hever Donagh, uses the library facilities to catch up on the work. Student librarians, Mary Baker and Connie Layman, (lower right), keep busy checking returned books. Opposite page: Student librarians (top) were: Connie Layman, Marie DeKontick, Pam Teeter, Sheryl Roth, Mary Baker, Don Yates, Tammy Smith, Cindy Runion, Carol Ramsey, Virginia Schach, Mary Waggoner, Cindy Burke, Luann Frauhiger and Kathy Geisel. Cathy Nichols, (left), and Luann Frauhiger, (right), find writing and reading much easier in the quiet surroundings of the library.

Band places 18th at State Fair

The Norwell bands, under the direction of Thomas L. Osborne, had a highly successful competitive season. After winning first at North Webster last summer, the band participated in a parade at North Manchester and was judged as the best band participating. They also received 18th place in the Indiana State Marching Band contest at the State Fair last year. The group was also invited to perform at a Ball State University football half-time show as a "feature" band. Gold Band, Norwell's concert band, received a first division rating at state contest this April. This is the third consecutive year for the Norwell Concert Band to receive a first place.

Choral department . . . singers with style

Under a new director, Mr. Ron Hellems (right) the choral department presented many outstanding programs and participated in several contests. A Fish Fry, a Swing Set convocation, the Messiah, and the Chamber Singer's Christmas Feast, highlighted the fall semester calendar. Spring semester brought about contests for solos and ensembles, Swing Set, Chamber Singers and Gold Choir. Much time this semester was focused on preparation for the musical, "Carnival," and on the Mother's Day concert involving all choral groups.

Newspaper class has a successful year

The last period of the day this year saw 12 newspaper staff members busily completing work for the next edition of "Days of the Knights." The class presented an environment typical of large-scale journalism programs. As the last headline or last correction was made and the last picture was cropped or when Chris Riiddle made an afternoon announcement that tomorrow would be "Dime Day," the staff could send the paper to the printer assured that all the work would be appreciated by approximately 700 readers.

(Bottom left): Scott Werling exercises on the leg lifter to condition himself for the wrestling season. Miss Herron (right) supervised her freshman class as the students learned the art of square dancing.

Students of P.E. practice various activities.

The purpose of the Physical Education courses is to keep students in shape and to show them how to exercise correctly by stimulating classroom arrangements. The students learn to play different sports with coordination and skill, and learn the rules of each game. Furthermore, students are in an environment where it is mandatory that they cooperate with each other in a learning experience.

Physical Education is a required course for freshmen with advanced courses offered as electives.

Yearbook staff works to publish a 1974-75 Accolade.

Journalism laboratories make up two classes. The Publication class spent many hours working to put together an effective yearbook. In this class, students practiced with various headlines, layouts, photographs and copy in order to organize pages most effectively. This years' staff worked hard to reveal the memories of the activities of the Norwell 1974-1975 school year.

Science . . . the class of discovery

The Science department contributes greatly to the knowledge of a student and helps him better understand the matter which makes up the world. In classes offered to all, students may study anything from germs to the structure of atoms. Outside activities are also offered to these future scientists. This year they took field trips to hospitals, research centers and to woods in search of leaves and weeds.

Soc. Science teaches citizenship

Social Science is the area of study where students learn the past, present, and future of the country and the relations to various other countries. The history and government courses that are offered in the Soc. Science department prepare the students to become better citizens and to meet responsibilities for their benefit and for the benefit of our nation.

. . . Freshman Knights begin

Norwell finished the 1974 football season with a record of 4 wins and 6 losses. This was a rebuilding season for Head Coach Ted Huber, being his first year at Norwell.

John Whiteman and Mike Miller were chosen as all conference players. Whiteman also received an honorable mention on the all state team.

Cross-Country goes 9-0 in A.C.A.C.

The 1974-75 version of Norwell cross-country finished a good season with a 61-10 won-lost record, and an unblemished 9-0 log in conference meets.

In order for the Knights to win the conference they had to finish in front of vastly improved Woodlan in the A.C.A.C. meet. This was clouded by a leg injury to #1 runner, Kent Gilbert, in that very week.

It may have been the downfall, as even though the Knights ran well, Woodlan ran better and managed to tie Norwell as co-champs in the conference.

In other big meets, Norwell won the Limberlost Invitational and Bi-County runs easily, and finished seventh in the sectional (first among county teams).

Tennis Team finishes at 6-6

The Norwell Tennis team, coached by Mr. Lex Dormire, ended the 1974-75 season with six wins and six losses. Kent Arnold, senior letterman, lead the team in wins ending with a personal 8-4 record.

Knights win 1975 Sectional

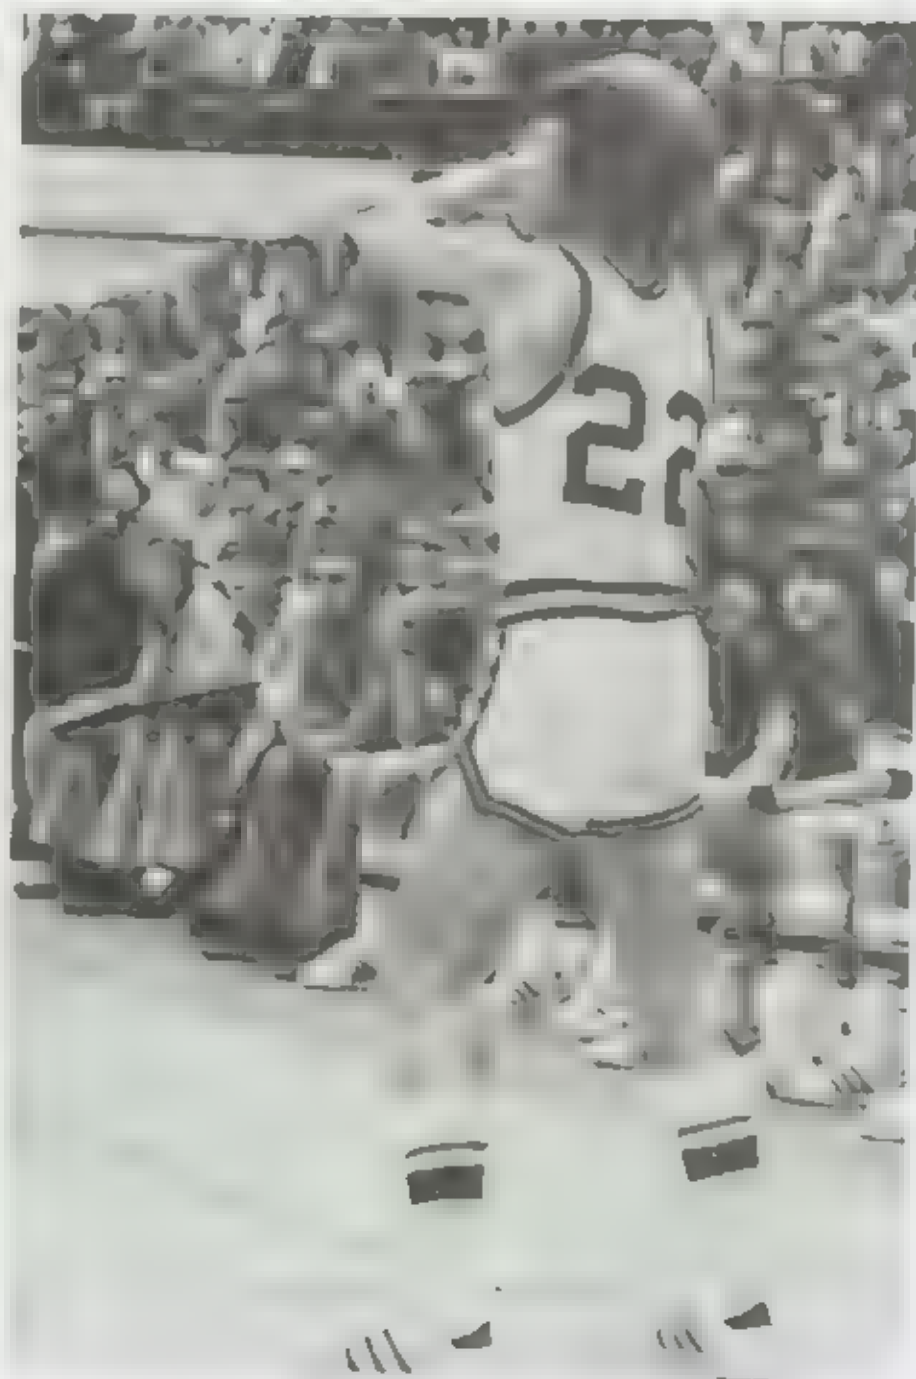

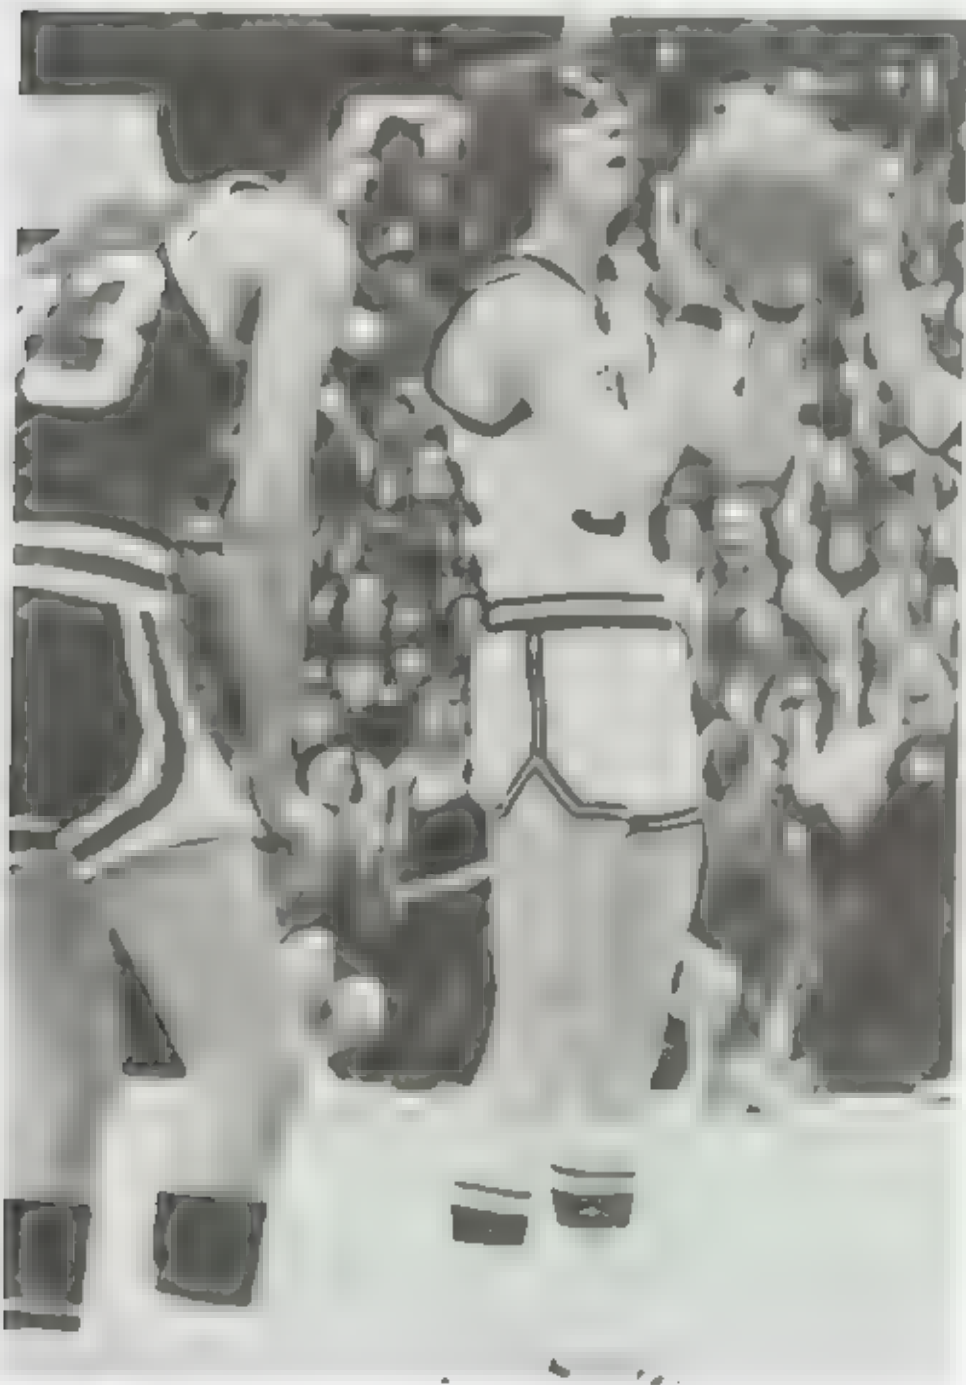

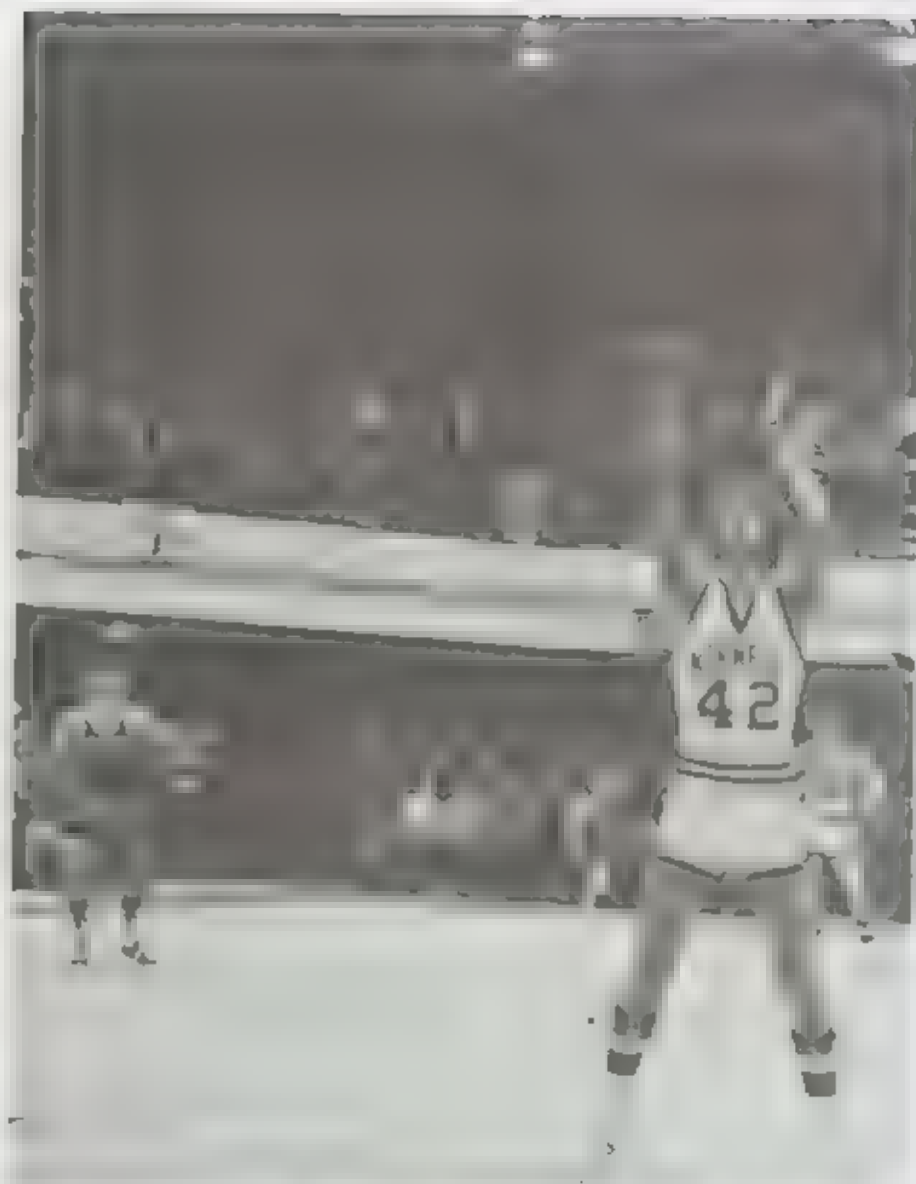

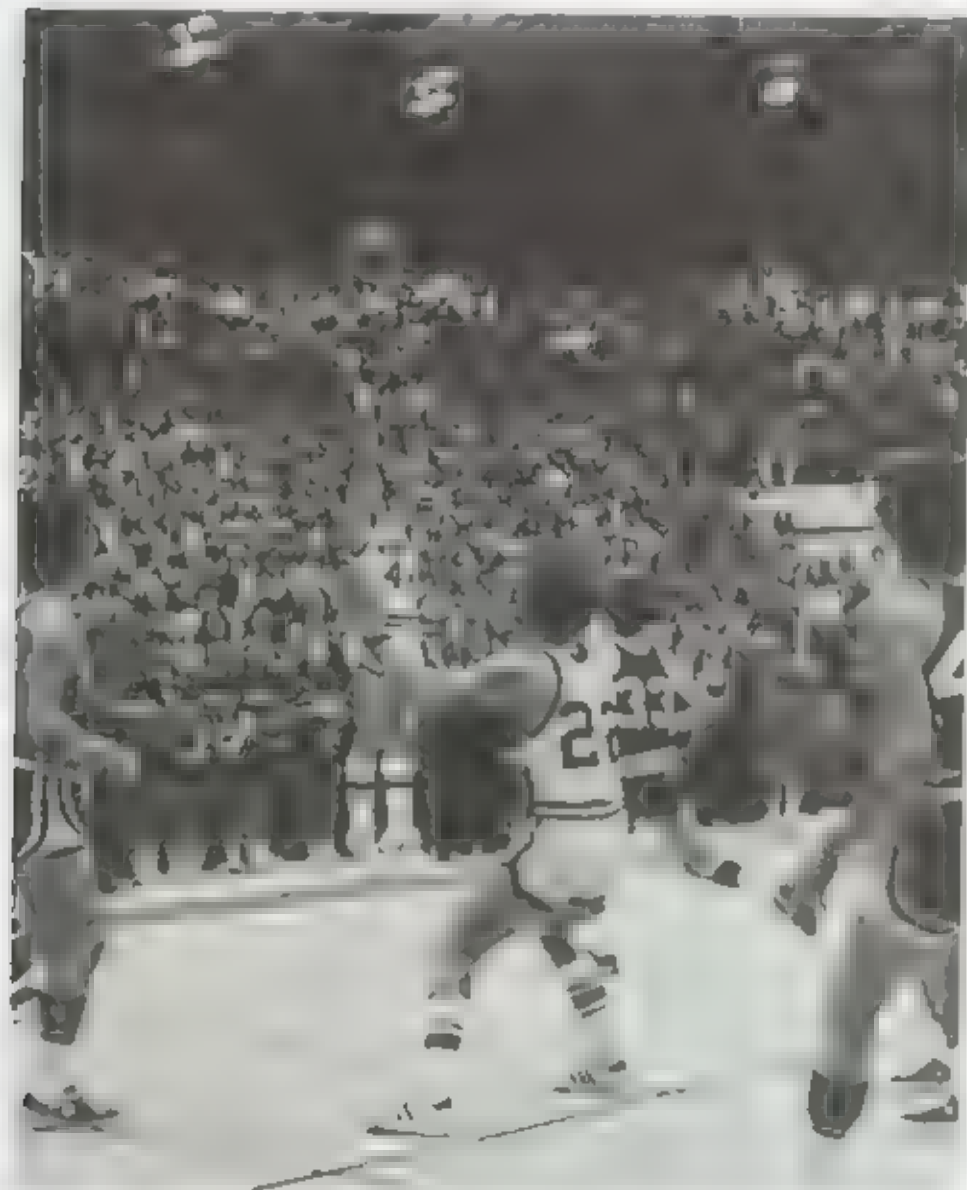

The Norwell Knights captured two basketball trophies this year as they won their first ACAC victory in January and later captured the sectional victory. In the regional, the Knights lost to host school and second-ranked Marion 66-44. The Knight squad had finished the season with a 19-7 record, much higher than had earlier been predicted. Geoff Foughty was selected to the all-regional team. Mike Miller was named the "most valuable player" in the South Adams sectional.

Grapplers Rebuild

The Norwell Wrestling team finished the season with one win, 10 losses and one tie. The top winner for the grapplers was senior letterman Mark Grandlienard with 13 wins and eight losses. Mike Krinn, Mark Krinn, and Mark Grandlienard finished 3rd in the ACAC meet. Key injuries seemed to plague the Knights throughout the wrestling season. On December 5, 1974, the Knights performed at a convocation for the student body.

Track men do well

The 1975 Norwell varsity track team completed an excellent season under Coach Rex Decker with a perfect 7-0 log in dual meets. The Knights copped first place honors in the South Adams Relays, the A.C.A.C., the Bi County and the Sectional. They also finished seventh among 160 teams and ran respectably in the North Side Relays and the Lime City Relays.

Six records were broken this year, those being a 9.7 registered in the 100 and a 21.2 in the 200 by Matt Confer, a 51.2 effort in the 440 by Tony Bennett, a 6' 3" leap in the high jump by Randy Meyer, a 52' 5" heave of the shot put by Al Strenler, and a 13' 6" clearance of the bar in the pole vault by Mitch Cook. Two Fresh records were posted this year, both by Chris Moser. He ran the high hurdles in 17.0 and grabbed a 20.6 time in the low sticks.

Norwell had two qualifiers in three events for the state meet. Those were Confer in the 100 and 220 and Steve Arnold in the 880.

Golfers Rebuild

The key word for the 1975 edition of Norwell golf was "rebuild." Coach Mike Gilbert and the Knights hope for a very strong squad next year with the absence of only one golfer, senior Keith Sample.

The number one man on the 1975 squad was junior, Bill Bynum. Bynum and Sample were joined on the varsity team by sophomores Steve Antrim, Brian Imel and Steve Bayless. Mike Garvey, freshman, promised to be an outstanding team member.

Volleyball team members learn fundamentals

The Girls' volleyball team ended the 1974-75 season with 6 wins and 16 losses. The girls reached the semi-final level of the ACAC tourney by defeating Carroll and Adams Central, then bowing out to Homestead. Under the direction of Coach Herron, the girls played a total of 22 competitive matches. (Below left - Patty Douglas, Linda Burton, Kathy Worden, Teri Rosinski watch their opponents while teammate Cathy Daugherty (right) tips the ball over for a hopeful score.)

Gymnasts Perform Well

The girls' gymnastics team finished their first season of competition in good fashion, as the optional level ended with 4 wins and 1 loss, the intermediate level finished with a 3-4 record, and the beginners also came in at 3-4.

The most consistent performer for the year was senior Linda Burton, who acquired the most team points.

Tami Byer and Bev Yager qualified for regional competition, and led the beginning team to second place in the sectional.

Girls Basketball Team has only one loss

The Norwell Girls' Basketball Team ended the season with an outstanding record of 15 wins and 1 loss.

The girls and Coach Edwards combined in their efforts and strategy throughout the year enabling them to win the South Adams Invitational and to capture the first place title of ACAC champs in the first conference tourney for girls.

The leading scorer, Teri Rosinski, sophomore, averaged 15.5 points per game.

The Way We Cheered

Cheerleaders have a very important job at all football and basketball games. It is the group of swirling, jumping, smiling, screaming girls that must lead the fans in support of the team. They must continue this support, even when the team is not doing so well.

The cheerleaders attend summer camps to learn new cheers and improve their skills. This year the girls sponsored a chili supper in January, and sold suckers for special "lick 'em" days.

Supporting the freshmen this year were (opposite page, top right, left to right) Peggy Graham, Camey Imel, Rhonda Arnold, and Melinda Shady. Encouraging the Junior-Varsity squads were (below left, TOP ROW, left to right) Lori Miller, Bev Yager, Kathy Worden. BOTTOM ROW (left to right) Anne Dormire, and Amy Roberts. Awards presented to 19 students

Each year the teachers from each department select a student that they feel has worked hard and shown dedication in a particular area. On May 14, 1975, the Golden Shield Awards were given to: Edith Bolinger (Home Ec.), Sarah Adams (Lang. Arts), Jill Thomas (Music), Connie Raber (Science), Sue Tschannen (Art), Carla Reinhard (Business), Lee Ann Graft (Phy. Ed.), Deb Goetz (Lang. Studies), Kent Arnold (Phy. Ed.), Jim Sollberger (Social Science), Kent Gilbert (Vocations), Chuck Krumrine (Band), and Andy Williams (Math). Scholarships were presented to Randy Grogg (Art), Sue Russel and Janna Prichard (Cosmetology), Jill Thomas and Rick Geist (Music), and Linda Bowman (Tri-Kappa). Cathy Close and Kevin Macy received journalism awards.

Lee Ann Graft was announced as Valedictorian of the class of 1975 with Connie Raber being the second in the class for academic excellence.

Connie Raber

Lee Ann Graft

Award Winners

Lee Ann Graft Valedictorian

Lee Ann was a rare combination of quiet control and dynamic energy. She sat quietly in the classroom acquiring a straight-A average; then she could surprise her audiences as she displayed her dynamic agility in every sport she played.

Connie Raber Salutatorian

Connie was willingness personified. Her acceptance of responsibilities was evident through her diligent work in studies and activities. She always had her eye on a goal and boosted morale wherever she happened to be.

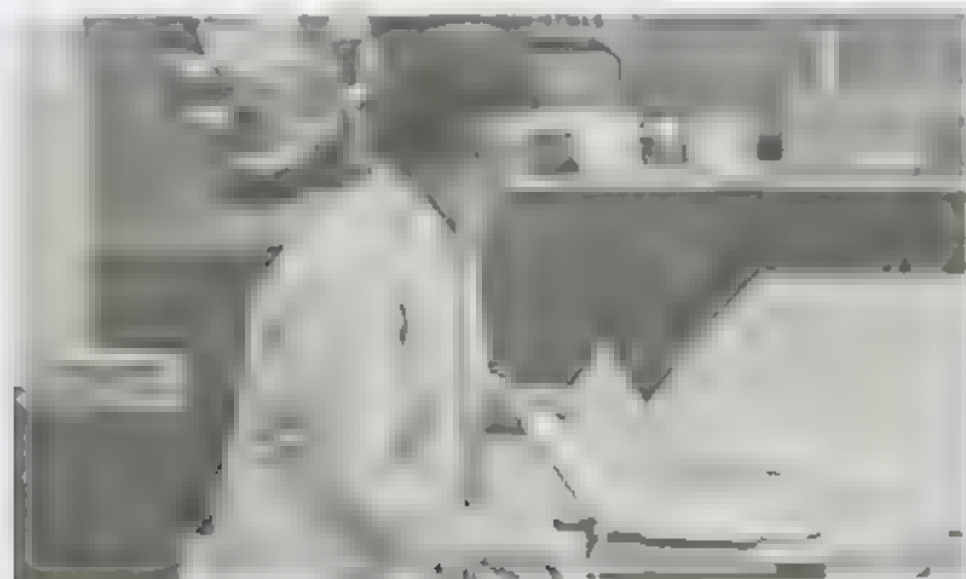

Artisans enjoy creativity

Art Club, sponsored by Mrs. Shady, was organized for the students in art classes who wanted to get more involved with art techniques.

The club's field trip to the Fine Arts Festival in Bluffton, enabled each member to evaluate other artist's exhibits. The annual Christmas art sale funded the club with enough money for new art supplies.

Other activities such as roller skating and swimming were enjoyed by club members.

FHA gives parties for nursing homes

Future Homemakers of America is a club which helps individuals improve personal, family, and community living. The 19 members this year, under the direction of Mrs. Hamilton, visited various nursing homes during the holidays, making decorations and giving parties for the patients to help make their holiday seasons more enjoyable. The members also had bowling parties. The officers were Becky Pflueger - Pres.; Anne Kunkel - Vice-Pres.; Sheila Harber - Treas.; Stephanie Gemple - Sec.; Kathy Pflueger - Reporter; and Carol Waggoner - Historian.

Chess Club members practice skills

Chess Club was organized for those students who have a special interest in playing chess. Under the direction of Mr. Dormire the club meets once a week in the library.

Kent Arnold, senior (upper left) who has been a member of this club for two years, studies the chessboard for the right move to block his opponent. Kent Arnold, senior and Andy Williams, junior (lower right) concentrate on the game to see who will be the winner.

GAA members play sports

The Girl's Athletic Association (GAA) was an organization of seventy girls this year who were given the opportunity to participate in intramural sport activities. The girls spent hours after school, playing volleyball, tennis, basketball, and badminton. Members of the club sponsored a coat check at ball games and sold milk shakes there in order to raise money for girls' sports.

Hi-Y sells . . . refreshments at games

Hi-Y is a club exclusively for boys. It has been a popular club at Norwell for seven years. Hi-Y members were in charge of selling refreshments at the football and basketball games. They also provide the firewood for our traditional bonfire every year. Under the direction of Mr. Jones and Mr. Lehman, the club has had a very successful year. Officers were: Chris Rieddle - Pres.; Darrel Yager - Sec.; and Mike Flechter - Chaplain.

During the early hours of the day the Hi-Y members put up the flag (upper right). Mr. Jones (lower left) helps in the refreshment stand at a basketball game taking Kathy Wordon's order

International Club finds foreign flavor

The International Club under the direction of Mr. Regenbogen, is a representation of students in various foreign language classes. The officers organized the club to go to different restaurants which served foreign food and had entertainment which came from different countries. Around Christmas the club had a party in the gym and sang Christmas carols in different foreign languages. The club had seventy-eight members, and the officers for this year were Carol Bradely - Pres.; Dan Ladig - Vice Pres.; and Stan Myers - Treas.

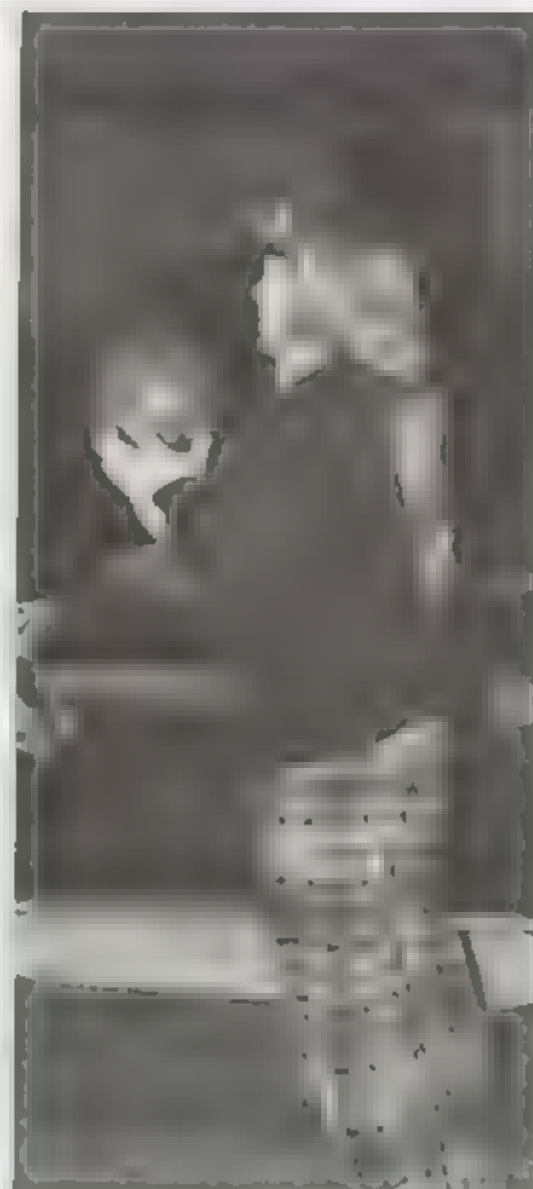

Bowling Club strikes again

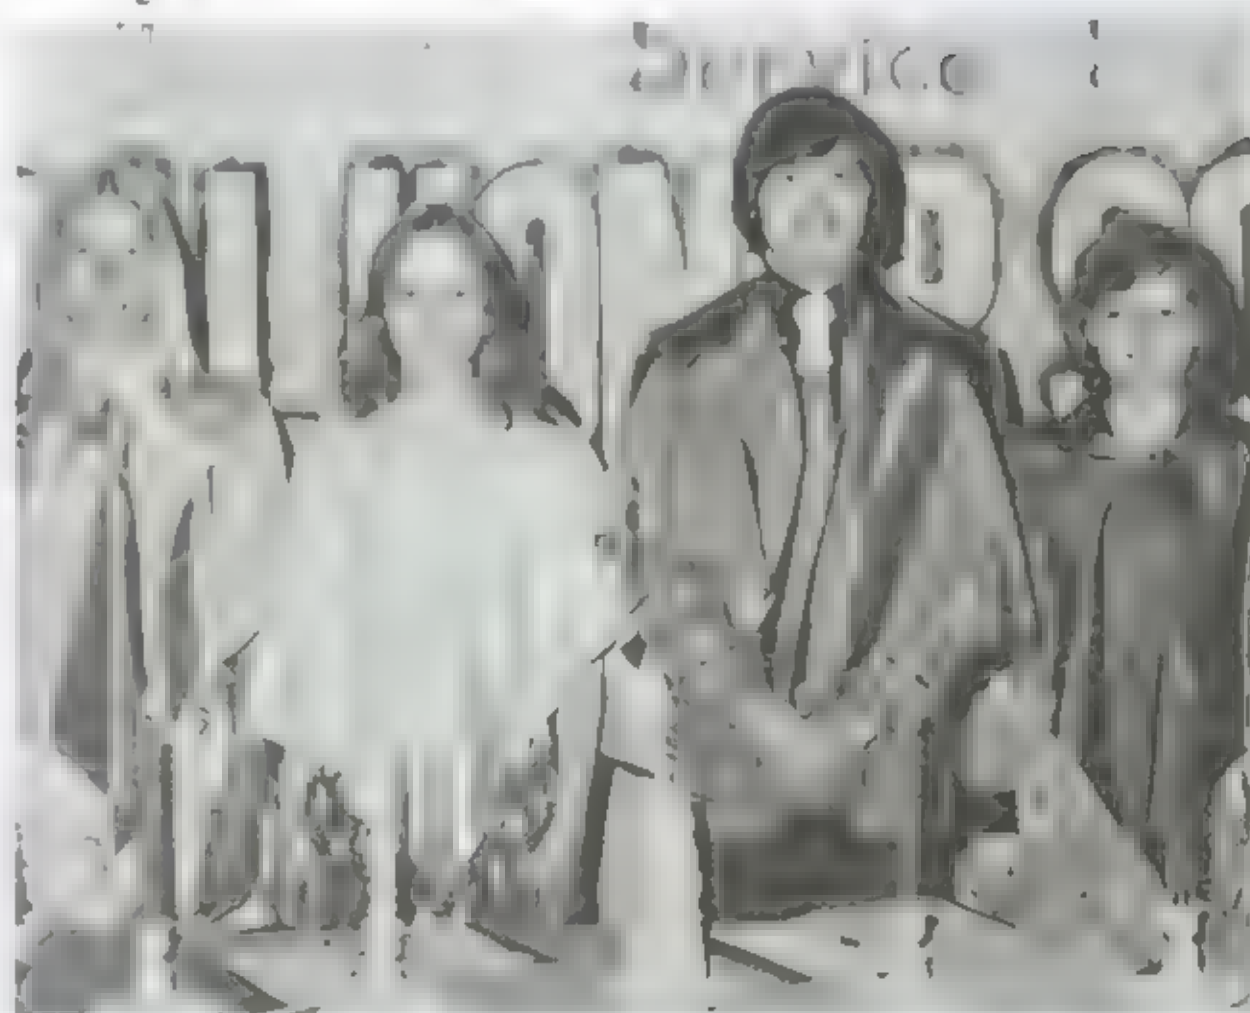

The Bowling Club is for those students who enjoy bowling and wish to improve their game. Under the direction of Mrs. White, the club meets every Tuesday after school at the Buffton Bowling Center. The members are divided into teams to compete against each other and at times the members play the faculty.

(Upper left) Cindy has a strategy to improve her score. (Upper right) Darrell Yager keeps score for a team while Matt Cook concentrates how to improve his game. (Below left) bowling members. TOP ROW: Tanya Tullis, Johanna Lutz, Maddie Lowe. BOTTOM ROW: Rick Davis and Darrell Yager. (Below right) Shelly is congratulated on receiving a strike.

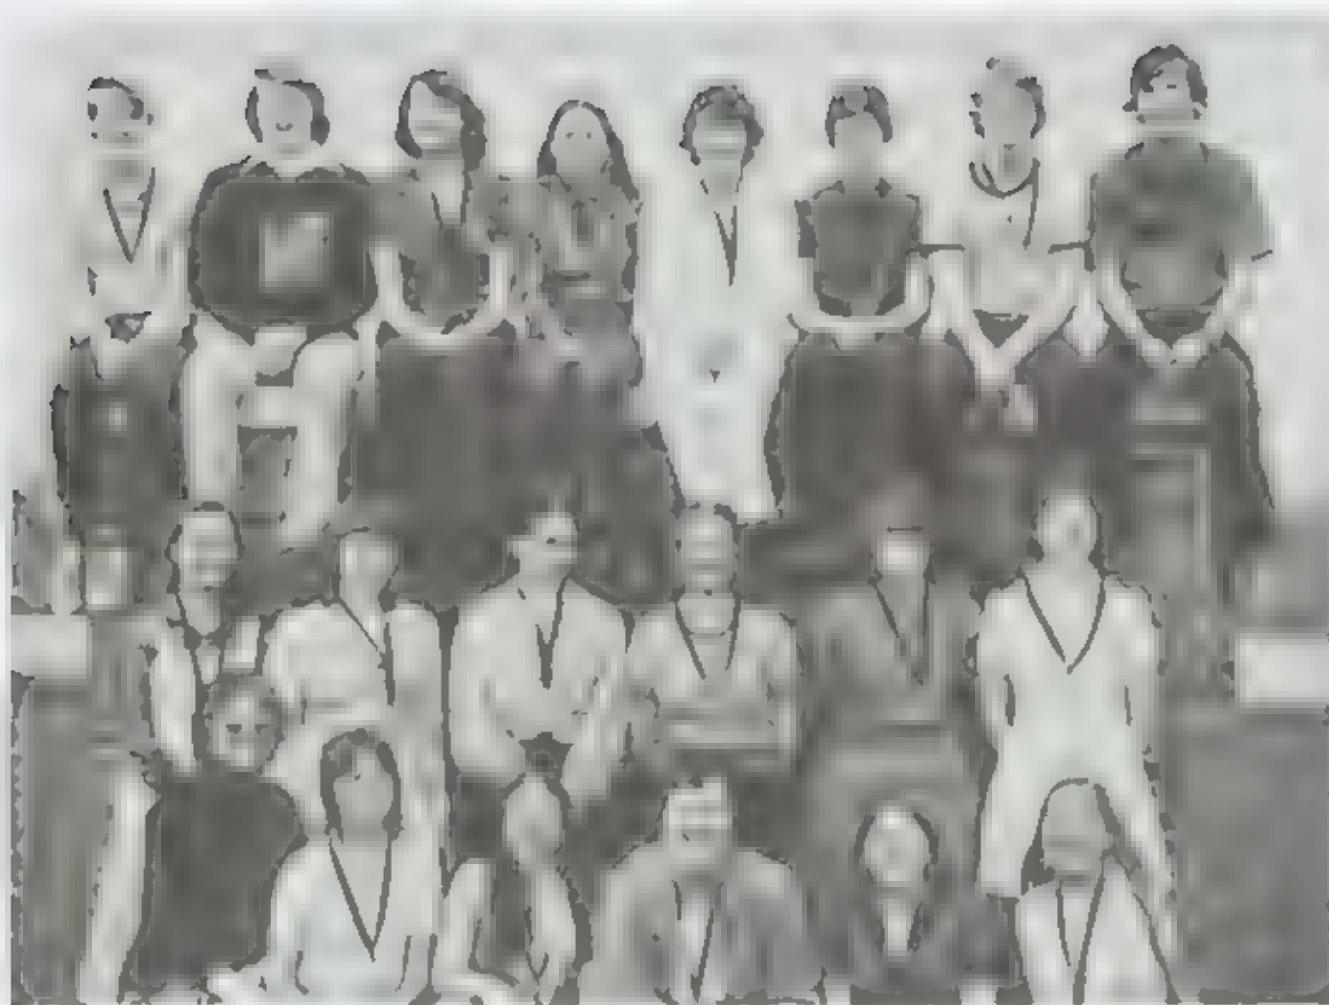

National Honor Society inducts members

The National Honor Society is made up of students from both the junior and senior classes. The top 15% of the Junior class become academically eligible for the Society. These top students are evaluated by the faculty, and the top 10% of this evaluation is inducted. The seniors are chosen the same way, but only the top 10% of the class become academically eligible. This year there were twenty Juniors and ten Seniors chosen for the club. These students are evaluated on their character, leadership, scholarship, and service.

Pep Clubs support team . . .

The girls' and boys' pep club is an organized example of school spirit. The 285 members, under the direction of Miss Watson and Mr. Harty, backed the teams at the games. The girls dressed in the traditional blue and gold, while the boys sat beside them in farmer clothes, complete with bandanas. The officers of girls' pep club were Jan Hook, President, Ellen Detwiler, Vice President, Linda Hinshaw, Secretary, Karen Duncan, Treasurer. The boys' pep club was lead by Dave Strain, President, Pat Graham, Vice President, Tim Hartigan and John White man, Sergeant at Arms.

(This page) Members of boys' pep club (upper left) pose for a picture during a home basketball game. Looking really depressed, seniors Dave Strait and Dave Detwiler (upper right) sit and watch the sectional game between Norwell and Bluffton. Senior girls in pep club (middle left) get excited as Norwell scores two points at the ACAC tourney. Senior boys (middle) are stunned as they watch the sectional game between Norwell and Bluffton but start to rally (middle right) as the knights pull ahead. Members of the pep club (lower left) go wild with screams of joy as Norwell wins the ACAC tourney.

Student Council directs Homecoming, Convocations

Student Council is made up of three members from each class. Its members voice student opinion to the faculty and school board. Student Council is in charge of Homecoming, planning various convocations, visiting various schools to see how they differ, planning sock hops, decorating the Christmas tree, and planning swimming parties. Student Council members are elected in the spring by their classmates and are in office until the following spring election. The officers for 1974-75 were Chris Rieddle - Pres.; Barry Gordon - Vice-Pres.; and Connie Raber - Sec. Other members included Dewey Roth (senior), Lea Maxwell and Andy Williams (juniors), Kathy Wordon, Paula Couch, and Gary Ulmer (sophomores), Peggy Kahn, John Cook, and Sandy Connett (freshmen). The Council is sponsored by Mr. Harty and Mrs. Ellis.

Science Club makes projects

Science Club is an organization for any student who is interested in studying science. The club members this year had an opportunity to participate in the science fair which was to be held at Norwell. The students were to develop their own scientific project to be judged. Sponsored by Mr. Jones, (pictured below) the club had fourteen members this year. OFFICERS: (right) Andy Williams - Pres.; Colleen Curtis - Vice Pres.; Eric Blessing - Sec.; and Dave McAfee - Treas.

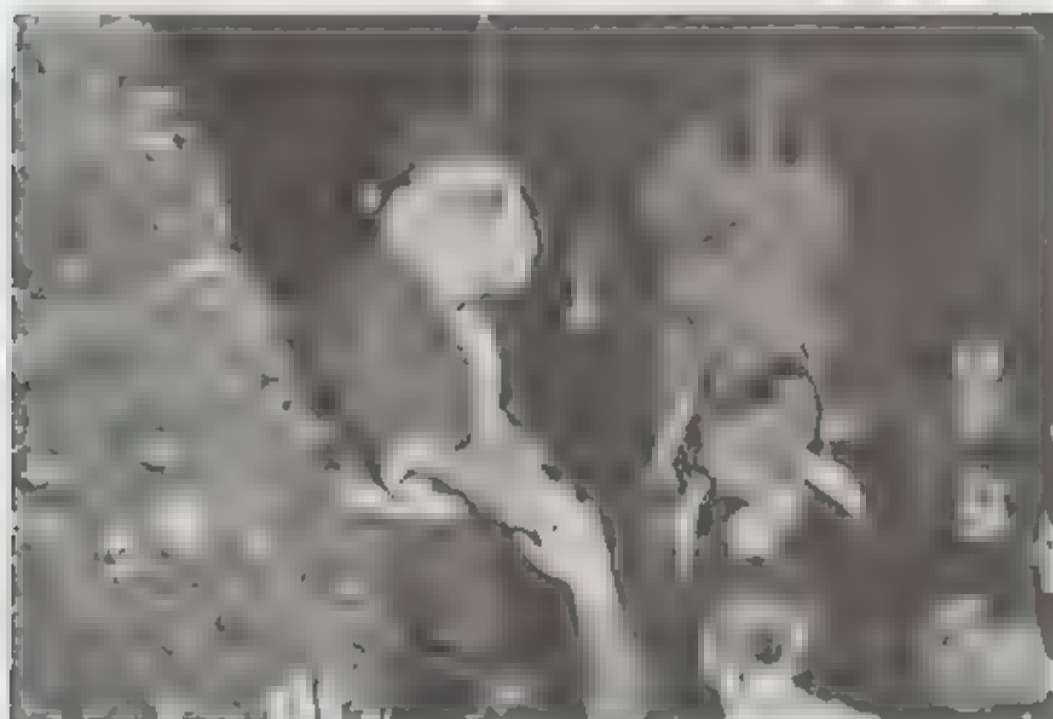

Sunshine society sponsors various events

Sunshine society was organized for the purpose of helping others and doing services for the community. Sunshine club has been a popular organization at Norwell for seven years. The sunshine dance, a February enlightenment, was attended by one hundred couples. At Christmas time members visited nursing homes and played games with elderly patients. Little brothers and sisters were invited for a party in January. Girls shared, individually, with ideal ladies.

Hawaiian Paradise is theme of dance

First speech trophy for Norwell

The speech team was a newly organized club for those students wishing to show their talents in speech. Under the direction of Mrs. Buzzard, the team gave various types of speeches at contests. Bob Byerly (right) won the team's first trophy by placing second at the Wells County American Legion Oratorical Contest. Team members (below) (left to right) FIRST ROW: Paula Couch, Teresa Feichter, Deb O'Hara, Sheri Miller, Deb Goetz. SECOND ROW: Mrs. Buzzard, Glenna Sprague, Lisa Weikel, George Stefura, Nathan Wilson, Jim Laudermilk, Mike Feichter, Bob Byerly and Andy Williams.

Thespians entertain us

If you are interested in acting, then Thespians is the club to be in. Thespians have presented several plays such as "Charlie Brown's Christmas" and "Desperate Ambrose." The officers for this year were Dewey Roth, Pres.; Vickie Fuller, Vice-Pres.; Deb Goetz, Sec.; and Abby Dormire, Treas.

(Lower left) Dave Ladig points a gun as he plays Sheriff Carndel in "Desperate Ambrose," a play presented in November by Troupe 279.

End of year brings . . .

. . . 1975 Prom . . .

Denise Ealing was crowned queen and Keith Sample, king, of the 1975 junior-senior prom held this year at Goeglein's Kerchertal Reserve north of Fort Wayne. Over 200 couples danced to the music of the Good Days and enjoyed a formal dinner. The theme of the spring event was "Walking Through the Country."

. . . Senior Trip . . .

. . . to Washington . . .

One hundred and twenty seniors flew to Washington D.C. this spring for a one-day tour of the nation's capital. The Seniors were met at the Capitol building by 10th district Congressman Phil Sharp. The Seniors visited many tourist attractions such as the White House, Capitol Building, Arlington Cemetery and Lincoln Memorial.
